Bike/Ped Safety and Safe Routes to School: Innovative Tools for Designing Safer Facilities

Thursday, May 19, 2005
California's Bike to Work Day

Featuring Presentations By

Christina Atienza of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC)

Seleta Reynolds of Fehr & Peers Transportation Consultants

David Parisi of Parisi Associates Transportation Consulting

Did you know that pedestrians account for 20% of all traffic fatalities, and bicyclists, 3%? You'll find information like this and much more at the MTC's Online Pedestrian and Bicycle Safety Toolbox. Unveiled this month, the toolbox features descriptions of policies and partnerships to enhance bike/ped safety from a programmatic standpoint and 70 (count 'em!) tools, sortable by type (engineering, enforcement, or education) and cost (low, medium, high). At the next ITE meeting, you'll get an introduction to this resource from two of the people who know it best. In addition, you'll learn about ITE's new Safe Routes to School Toolkit. Come celebrate Bike to Work Day with ITE and take a fresh look at safe design for bikes and peds.
